Which gleek needed at the end of the night was a Kleenex box. The musical performance of the night have been covers and mash-ups that showed Chenoweth, the Amber Riley's Newly Cheero'd Mercedes, the Kurt Soulful of Chris Colfer and a lot of songs at home, thanks to the music producer "Glee" Adam Anders. "One of the most incredible moments of this episode is the duet between Matthew Morrison and Kristin Chenoweth, a mash-up between Burt Bacharach and [sung by] Barbra Streisand [from 1971 Bacharach / Hal David Medley," a bell less to reply ' / A House is not a house '], "Anders told MTV news to his recording studio in Hollywood." It was shot as a scene that never breaks, it's amazing, I was swept away when I 'I saw and I had chills and tears. From all the episodes it has done so far. While the episode started on an optimistic note with a cover of Bruce Springsteen of "Fire", sung as a duet from Matthew Morrison will be the episode was Kurt's performance by Bacharach's "a house is not a home". Anders called the rendering of Bacharach Collfer "the most emotional song we've ever done." And as regards the moving reduction of the Mercedes of Kurt Pal Mercedes of Kurt Pal Mercedes of Kurt Pal Mercedes of Kurt Pal Mercedes of the Ballad Hit "Beat" by Christina Aguilera "Beautiful", Anders said it was almost not happened. "Amber Riley didn't want to sing him," he said. "Don't let you tell you differently, she really respects Christina Aguilera and wanted to do it justice. Like when she did 'and I'm telling you I'm not going," it was really for this. But as everyone knows, he killed him. "What was your favorite song about last night's English?
